Reading Books with Toddlers

Teacher’s Note: Review the section in Curriculum Tips and Techniques on Reading Books with Children, for suggestions on how to use books with children.

Learning Goals:
LD1.1 Understands and responds to language (in child’s home language)
EL1.1 Shows interest in literacy experiences
EL1.2 Engages in read-alouds and conversations about books and stories (engagement with books and stories, story comprehension)

Book: Three Little Kittens by Paul Galdone (YT & OT)

First Reading of Three Little Kittens
• Take several pairs of adult or child size mittens to the book area and begin to say the rhyme, “Three little kittens, they lost their mittens and they began to cry…”
• Invite children to examine the mittens. Respond to their comments or ask questions to gain an understanding of what they know about mittens. Say, “These are mittens. Do you have mittens? When do you wear your mittens? Do your mittens look like these?”
• Collect the mittens from the children.
• Show the cover of the book and state the title.
• Call attention to the mittens the kittens are wearing. Point to each kitten in turn and say, “This kitten has on red mittens. This one has green mittens and this one has on blue mittens.”
• Read the story with the children. Vary your voice and facial expressions to reflect the emotions of the characters in the story. For example, use a scolding voice for the mother when she says, “What! Lost your mittens, you naughty kittens.”
• Continue with the story to the end.
• Follow up the reading of the story by showing some of the pictures and inviting children to discuss whether or not the kittens have their mittens. Encourage children to discuss why or why not the kittens have their mittens.
Second Reading of Three Little Kittens
- Begin to say the rhyme, “Three Little Kittens” as you go to the book area.
- Show the cover of the book and state the title.
- Encourage children to make comments about the pictures.
- Involve them in repeating “Meow, meow, meow” when the kittens do.
- Follow up the reading of the story by showing the pictures and inviting children to describe what is happening in the pictures. Support the children by asking prompt questions such as “How did the three little kittens get their mittens dirty? How did the three little kittens get their mittens clean?”

Teacher Note: The follow up suggestions for both the First and the Second Readings may be more appropriate for older toddlers.

Book: Mama Cat Has Three Kittens by Denise Fleming (YT & OT)

First Reading of Mama Cat Has Three Kittens
- Go to the book area and say to children who join you, “I have another story about a mama cat and her three kittens.
- Show the cover and state the title.
- Begin to read the story, taking time to call attention to the details in the illustrations. For example, in the first double spread page, point to Mama Cat and each of the three kittens as you read their names.
- Follow up the reading of the story by showing the first double spread pages and again naming the cats. Show the different pages, describe what Mama Cat is doing, turn the page and say that Fluffy and Skinny do what their mother has done. They wash their paws and walk the stone wall, for example.
- Invite children to find Boris on each of the pages and ask, “Is Boris doing what Fluffy and Skinny are doing? What is Boris doing? That’s right, Boris is napping.”

Second Reading of Mama Cat Has Three Kittens
- Invite children to join you in the book area to hear a story about Mama Cat and her three kittens.
- Show the cover and state the title.
- Show the first double spread page and name the cats.
- Read the story with the children. Invite children to make comments about the illustrations and/or the story.
- Follow up the reading by showing the page where Mama Cat is washing her paws. Invite children to look at the illustrations and describe what Mama Cat is doing.
- Turn the page and again invite children to look at the illustrations and describe what Fluffy and Skinny are doing.
- Invite children to find Boris on each of the pages and describe what Boris is doing.
- Continue with this until the end of the story.

Teacher Note: The follow up suggestions for both the First and Second readings may be more appropriate for older toddlers.

First Reading of Cat’s Colors (OT)

- Invite children to join you to hear a story about a cat.
- Show the cover and give the title.
- Call children's attention to the color of the cat (orange with black stripes) and the cat’s whiskers and claws. Encourage children’s comments about their experiences with cats.
- Show the first page and read, “I’m Cat. What is my favorite color?” Name the colors of the stripes on the page, from top to bottom.
- Ask children, “Which color do you think is Cat’s favorite?” Accept all answers. Say, “Let’s read and find out Cat’s favorite color.
- Read the story with the children, allowing children to make comments about the illustrations. For example, they may notice the cows walking in the green grass or the bees in the pink petals of the flowers.
- Show and read the text on the last double-spread page: “Orange is the color of my mother.” Invite children to find Cat.

Second Reading of *Cat’s Colors

- Invite children to join you in the book area to read the story, Cat’s Colors.

- Read the book with the children. Invite children to notice the other animals that share each page with Cat. For example, cows are in the grass and bees are in the flowers.
- Follow up the reading by showing each double-spread page and inviting children to discuss what is happening on the page.
- Relate the colors on the page to the child’s environment. For example, say, “We have green grass on our playground. Camilla has on a blue dress. Andrew’s shirt is yellow.

Planned Activity: Storytelling (YT & OT)
Three Little Kittens (See Attachment: Three Little Kittens)

How to begin:

- Make either felt or magnetic storytelling figures for the story.
- Read the book and the rhyme with children several times so that they are familiar with the characters and the order of events.
- Use the storytelling figures to tell the story.
- Involve children in placing figures on the storyboard when you feel they can do this.
Learning Goals:

EL1.1 Shows interest in literacy experiences
EL2.1 Notices and manipulates the sounds of language (rhyme)

Planned Activity: Storytelling (YT & OT)
Color Mittens (See Attachment: Three Little Kittens for patterns that can be used)

How to begin:
- Make a kitten and four felt or magnetic mittens (blue, red, yellow, green) for the story, Color Mittens.
- Use the figures to tell the following story:

    Color Mittens

    My poor little kitten lost her mitten
    And began to cry, “Boohoo.”
    So I helped my kitten look for her mitten
    Her beautiful mitten of blue.

    I found a mitten just right for a kitten
    Under my mother’s bed.
    But, alas, the mitten was not the right mitten,
    For it was colored red.

    I found a mitten just right for a kitten
    Under my father’s pillow.
    But alas, the mitten was not the right mitten
    For it was colored yellow.

    I found a mitten just right for a kitten
    Under the laundry so clean.
    But, alas, the mitten was not the right mitten
    For it was colored green.

    I found a mitten just right for a kitten
    Inside my favorite shoe.
    And this time the mitten was just the right mitten,
    For it was colored blue.

Extensions:
- Make enough mittens of the different colors for each child to have one.
- Read the story and invite children to hold up the correct mitten when you say the color word and to say the word.
- Read the story at another time and invite children to fill in the rhyming word, which would be the color words.

Teacher Notes:
- The Extension activities may be more appropriate for older toddlers.
- Color Mittens is from the Arkansas Children’s Week booklet, “Tell Me a Story.”
